Operating results

Results for the year reflect record levels of sales and profit for Magellan, and were achieved through a strengthening of mutually beneficial long-term relationships with the world's leading aerospace companies. Revenue for the year ended December 31, 2000 was $625.4 million, an increase of 11.3% over 1999 revenues of $561.8 million. Net income for the year was $37.9 million ($0.59 per share), an increase of 22.8% over 1999 income of $30.9 million ($0.49 per share).

Internally, Magellan continued to reduce costs through Six Sigma and Lean Manufacturing initiatives, and through consolidation and integration of several key activities. Gross margins reflect this effort, as they improved to 18.5% in 2000, up from 18.2% in 1999. Magellan has also focused on controlling administrative and general expenses, which fell as a percentage of revenue from 6.5% in 1999 to 5.7% in 2000.

Revenue in the fourth quarter was $161.6 million, an increase of 1.0% over the fourth quarter of 1999. Net income was $11.7 million ($0.18 per share), compared to net income of $11.7 million ($0.18 per share) in the same period last year.

Interest expense for the year 2000 was $19.7 million compared to $15.2 million in 1999. The higher interest expense reflects a full year of increased debt levels associated with the purchase of Ellanef Manufacturing completed in June, 1999, as well as higher interest rates. During 2000, Magellan used cash provided from operations to reduce long term debt by $23.8 million.

Recent developments

During the fourth quarter of 2000, Magellan participated with The Boeing Company to re-shape, augment and extend Magellan's work package on the Boeing 717 twinjet. The agreement, worth over $400 million, released an additional 97 aircraft to production at the Fort Erie and Winnipeg facilities, and extended the program horizon to 500 aircraft. At the end of 2000, 60 shipsets had been delivered to Boeing. The fourth quarter also saw advancement of Airbus opportunities, with the announced launch of the double-deck A380 long-range transport, and the successful completion of design, testing and delivery of certification units on currently contracted work for the A318 and the A340 aircraft. Two new engine programs, the Honeywell AS907 business/RJ engine and the Orenda OGT 2500 co-generation industrial engine, ran in Magellan test cells for the first time during December.

Summary

Magellan has launched a number of initiatives to integrate activities, consolidate market advances, and improve internal processes to support its customer base. These initiatives bore fruit in 2000 in the form of new orders and improved margins. These initiatives will be broadened and extended in 2001. In late 2000, Magellan also committed to improving its support to investor relations and communications in order to better present its strong and consistent growth story. With an order book in excess of $1 billion, and new opportunities identified in 2000, 2001 will offer continued growth.
